Charges Of Misconduct

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen.
Thomas J. Dodd made a sworn denial of misconduct charges today and accused trusted employee in his office, who fed documents from his files to newspaper columnists, of "robbing me blind."

Dodd took the stand in his own defense at a climactic session of the Senate Ethics Committee hearings into the misconduct
charges.

Before Dodd testified, his attorney had asked that the committee's ranking Republican member, Sen. Wallace Bennett of Utah be disqualified for having made "a prejudgment before hearing the most vital evidence — the testimony of Sen.
Dodd himself." The request was tabled.

The committee also heard Mrs. Dodd swear that it was she, not Chicago public relabought Persian rugs now in the

Racial Violence Flares In Cleveland As Well As On Mississippi March

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The summer calm in an East Side neighborhood was shattered by violence Thursday night as a young Negro boy was shot and wounded; a white woman was injured by a thrown brick, and shots were fired at two policemen.

Several businesses operated by white men were looted and vandalized.

It was the second night of trouble in the area but police said the situation was brought under control quickly.

The violence erupted along a section of Superior Avenue where Negro and white neighborhoods come together.

Earl Stapler, 39, a Negro, told a newsmen, "We want all the white businessmen out of this area, and you can quote me on that. If we can't go into Sowinski Park, then they can't come over here."

The Sowinski area has been a trouble spot before. Racial disturbances broke out there three years ago after a 15-year-old white girl was attacked by a group of Negro youths in the park.

The wounded boy, 3-year-old Stephen Griffin, was reported in fair condition at Mt. Sinai Hospital with a bullet wound in the lower abdomen. His brother, Richard, 16, said a white man fired the shot from a passing convertible.

There appeared to be no reason for the shooting, witnesses said.

Two patrolmen said they were fired on by two men across the street as they drove up in front of a grocery, where a smoke bomb had been thrown through the window. The men who fired

CANTON, Miss. (AP) — Frenzied by a hectic night of tear gas and tension, the Mississippi march regroups today for new "confrontations."

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said a detachment would drive 60 miles east to Philadelphia, Miss., a Ku Klux Klan stronghold, for a rally.

"We will maintain the peace come hell or high water," said Gov. Paul Johnson, in urging Philadelphia residents to stay away from the rally—part of the march's effort to spur Negro voter registration.

The busy schedule also called for organization of Negro boycott of downtown white merchants and a general work stoppage by Negroes in Canton, while a few continue the march toward Jackson.

From Canton, the march swings south along U.S. 51, the same highway where it all was started by James H. Meredith in Memphis, Tenn., 20 days and 220 miles ago. Jackson is 20 miles from Canton.

Meredith is the slender Negro who broke the racial barrier at the University of Mississippi in 1962. He was wounded by shotgun blasts June 6 as he walked near Hernando. Civil rights leaders rushed in to take up his march.

Recovered from his wounds, Meredith—now a Columbia University law student—planned to rejoin the march today.

Claude Sterrett, traveling with Meredith, said they would leave Memphis by car at 3 p.m. EST.

Meredith was carrying the ivory and ebony walking cane given him by an African chief-tain with tane binding the Still playing his role, Green bowed gracefully but mockingly to Gov. Roger D. Branigin and former Gov. Henry F. Schricker, and said:
