Hall scoutmaster pleads guilty to child molestation

By Jane M. Anderson

The Times

A 40-year-old former Boy Scouts troop leader pleaded guilty yesterday to seven counts of child molestation.

Larry Calabro, a former Hall County resident, will not be sentenced for several more months, said his attorney, Stan Robbins. He could receive up to 140 years in prison in addition to fines, said Hall County Superior Court Judge John Calabro Girardeau, who presided over yesterday's proceedings.

Calabro, who led a Scouts troop for about three years, pleaded guilty to touching, fondling and stroking the penises of seven Boy Scouts ages 8 to 10, said Bill Brownell, an assistant district attorney. The incidents occurred from January 1987 to February of this year, indictments handed down by a Hall County grand jury this past spring showed.

Calabro also was indicted on two counts of aggravated child molestation, which he did not plead guilty to and for which he will not be prosecuted, Brownell said.

"There are several reasons we agreed to this," Brownell said. "There is only 10 years' difference in the sentence for aggravated child molestation and child molestation. The parole board would do little with it. It would affect his actual time in prison very little.

"And we looked at the anguish it would cause the children and their parents to have to testify. We also looked at the cost to the county," Brownell said.

Brownell said Calabro may face additional charges of child molestation in Rabun County. The alleged incidents occurred during a camping trip he took with scouts to Rabun County. Those cases, however, have not yet been discussed with Mountain Circuit District Attorney Mike Crawford, Brownell said.

Calabro, who has been held in the Hall County Detention Center since his arrest in March, appeared in court yesterday in a navy jacket, gray pants and burgundy striped tie. He wore a patch over his left eye and glasses when he signed the guilty plea.

He answered Girardeau's questions with a stern voice; it appeared to quiver only one time, and at that point, he hung his head as Girardeau read the indictments. Calabro's wife sat in the courtroom fighting to hold back tears; some flowed anyway.

Also in the courtroom were some Boy Scouts and their parents. They were accompanied by Judy Smith of the Hall County Department of Family and Children Services. She took them all into a separate room after the proceedings ended.

After the proceedings, Robbins said of Calabro's decision, "I assume he decided to plead guilty because he was guilty." Calabro also waived his right to withdraw his plea.

Robbins said he plans an aggressive sentencing hearing.

Calabro, who worked as a mechanic for the Hall County Fire Department for about three years, was arrested March 4 of this year in Roselle Park, N.J., where he had just moved with his family.

Scouting leader faces molestation charges in Hall

By Ines Pinto

The Times

A 39-year-old man active in local Scouting has been charged with four counts of child molestation, Hall County Sheriff Dick Mecum said this morning.

The man, Larry Calabro, of 3120 Pierce Road, was a Boy Scouts troop leader for about three years and he led the county's law enforcement Explorers group, Mecum said.

The sheriff declined to say whether the alleged victims may have been scouts.

"I can't go into where he did it or when he did it," Mecum said. "But, we checked with the Explorers and we haven't found anything there."

Calabro, who worked as a mechanic for the Hall County Fire Department, was arrested Friday in Roselle Park, N.J. The sheriff said Calabro had moved to New Jersey recently with his wife and children, and "he was living there under a different name."

When Hall County authorities learned Calabro had left Georgia, Mecum said, the department's investigation intensified and warrants were taken out for Calabro's arrest. New Jersey police arrested him on the warrants, Mecum said.

Calabro was returned to Hall County yesterday and is being held in the county jail, Mecum said. Calabro is expected to appear before the Hall County Magistrate Court today to determine if bond will be set for him, Mecum said.

The investigation into the case continues and Mecum said it is difficult at this point to say how many children may have been molested.

"It's hard to speculate at this point," Mecum said. "You have different types of seriousness of molestation."

Bond hearing today for scoutmaster accused of molestation

By Ines Pinto
The Times

A Hall County scoutmaster indicted on six charges of child molestation and aggravated sodomy is scheduled to have a bond hearing today, assistant district attorney Lee Barragh said.

Larry Calabro, 38, of 3120 Pierce Road, was a Boy Scouts troop leader for about three years and led the county's law enforcement Explorers Calabro group, Hall County Sheriff Dick Meccum said.

The sheriff would not say if the alleged victims may have been scouts, but he did say the Explorers were not affected.

Calabro was indicted Wednesday by a Hall County grand jury on two counts each of aggravated sodomy, aggravated child molestation and child molestation. The hearing is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. in the Hall County Magistrate Court.

Calabro, who worked as a mechanic for the Hall County Fire Department for about three years, was arrested Friday in Roselle Park, N.J., where he had recently moved with his family, the sheriff said. He had been living there under an assumed name, the sheriff said.

"We were very shocked," said his former employer, Hall County Fire Chief Mike Satterfield. "He was a good employee. He was a hard worker. He worked long hours."

Satterfield said he didn't know much about Calabro's personal life except that he was originally from New Jersey and had worked as an Emergency Medical Technician in the military.

"Basically he had a good record," Satterfield said. "He had been out a considerable amount of time with injuries that were work related."

Satterfield said Calabro had last worked on Feb. 26 before going on medical leave and apparently was scheduled for surgery.

Barbara Gallagher, manager of the Professional Convalescent Ambulance Service in Gainesville, said Calabro once had worked as a mechanic for her business for a few weeks, but left to work somewhere in Oklahoma.

"There was no indication of any problems while he was here," she said.

Wayne Brock, scout executive of the Northeast Georgia Council of Boy Scouts, said Calabro was in charge of 16 boys ranging from 12 years old to high school age.

Brock said several citizens sponsor the troop, but he would not release the names of the people. Calabro had been meeting with the troop until he left the area, Brock said.

The troop, which had not rechartered in January as required, was still holding meetings until the allegations against Calabro came out, Brock said.

Brock said scoutmasters are screened by his office. He said names of sponsors and volunteers are cross-referenced at Boy Scouts headquarters with names of scout leaders accused of criminal wrongdoing.

Bond denied scoutmaster charged with molestation

By Ines Pinto

The Times

No bond was set today for a Hall County scoutmaster indicted on six charges of child molestation and aggravated sodomy.

A bond hearing was scheduled this morning in Hall County Magistrate Court for Larry Calabro, 39, of 3120 Pierce Road. Magistrate Raymond Shuder informed Calabro that Superior Court Judge

Calabro

John Girardeau yesterday signed a "no bond" order in Calabro's case, and therefore, the magistrate court would take no further action. (Superior court is a higher court than magistrate court.)

Calabro was a Boy Scouts troop leader for three years and led the county's law enforcement Explorers group, Hall County Sheriff Dick Mecum said.

The sheriff would not say if the alleged victims may have been scouts, but he did say the Explorers were not affected.

Calabro was indicted Wednesday by a Hall County grand jury on two counts each of aggravated sodomy, aggravated child molestation and child molestation. He is being held at the Hall County Detention Center.

Brock said scoutmasters are screened by his office. He said names of sponsors and volunteers are cross-referenced at Boy Scouts headquarters with names of scout leaders accused of criminal wrongdoing.

"When Larry's name was cross-referenced, his name didn't appear," Brock said. "The people who knew Larry apparently thought Larry would be a good leader."

Hall County sheriff's investigator Stan Lovell said the case is still under investigation. No other details were available.

Hall ex-Scoutmaster faces new molestation charge

By Ines Pinto
The Times

A former Hall County scoutmaster, already facing six charges of child molestation, has been indicted on a seventh count.

Larry Calabro, 39, of 3120 Pierce Road, now faces a total of two counts of aggravated child molestation and five counts of child molestation, assistant district attorney Jessica Vaughn said in a press conference yesterday at the Hall County Courthouse.

Child molestation becomes aggravated child molestation when sodomy is involved, District Attorney Andy Fuller said.

Calabro, who was a Scouting leader for about three years, is accused of molesting five Scouts ages 8 to 10, Ms. Vaughn said.

"The indictment charges that the acts of molestation occurred over a period of time lasting almost two years, from May 1986 until February of this year," she added.

Calabro originally was indicted on March 9, but the continuing investigation led to one more molestation charge. Fuller said the original six counts were re-indicted so all of the charges would be tried at the same time.

Calabro, who worked as a mechanic for the Hall County Fire Department for about three years, was arrested March 4 in Roselle Park, N.J., where he had just moved with his family. He had been living there under an assumed name, the sheriff said. He was brought back to Hall County on March 8.

Wayne Brock, scout executive of the Northeast Georgia Council of Boy Scouts, said Calabro was in charge of 16 boys. Brock said Calabro had been meeting with the Scouts until he left the area.

Ms. Vaughn said the investigation has revealed that at least one other victim is involved, but that those acts of molestation allegedly occurred outside of Hall County. She said the case has been turned over to authorities in another county, which she did not identify, for investigation.

Calabro also at one time led the county's law enforcement Explorers group, but Hall County Sheriff Dick Mecum said apparently no Explorers were molested.

Cub Scouting is for boys ages 6 through 10. Boy Scouts are ages 11 through 17. Exploring is open to both boys and girls from high school age through 20.

"Generally, you don't have a child molester who stays in the 8, 9, 10 range and then jumps to the teenagers," Mecum said.

Hall Boy Scout leader faces sex charges

Gwinnett Bureau

A Hall County Boy Scout troop leader has been indicted on charges of molesting five scouts, authorities said Wednesday.

Larry Calabro, 39, of Gainesville was indicted late Tuesday on five counts of child molestation and two counts of aggravated child molestation involving boys between the ages of 8 and 12, all members of troops he had led during the last 19 months.

Calabro, a mechanic with the Hall County Fire Department since 1984, has been the leader of several Boy Scout troops and a Sheriff's Department Explorers group, in which he worked with teenage boys interested in police work.

Calabro was arrested March 4 at his sister's house in Roselle Park. N.J. Sheriff Dick Mecum said the Sheriff's Department has provided psychiatric counseling for the families of all the children involved.

DeKalb police link shooting of two men from Michigan

DeKalb Bureau

DeKalb County police say they have linked the fatal shootings of two men whose bodies were found two miles apart Tuesday, and they identified the victims as residents of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The men were identified Wednesday as Michael Earl Sherman, 27, and Joseph Lewis Fields Jr., 29. Both apparently died from multiple gunshot wounds early Tuesday, according to the DeKalb medical examiner's office.

While no scientific evidence is available yet, police believe the murders were connected because the victims were from the same town, had both come to Atlanta several days ago and had been staying together here, DeKalb police Lt. Rodney Maddox said.

A Grand Rapids police detective said Fields had "quite an extensive record" in drug trafficking and a

Dear Paul,

I am following up on our telephone conversation of February 29th regarding one of our leaders, Larry Calabro. We have been notified by the Sheriff of Hall County Georgia, Dick Mecum, that Mr. Calabro has been accused of sexually abusing a child. A police report was filed by [REDACTED] on behalf of her son [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] is the wife of [REDACTED].

[REDACTED] allege that Mr. Calabro picked up their son as he was walking along the side of the road and offered him a ride. While in the car Mr. Calabro asked [REDACTED] to pull down his pants and then he fondled him. Mr. Calabro took [REDACTED] to Mr. Calabro's home and did the same thing again.

All this was brought to my attention by one of our District Executive's, Richard Aiken. Rick met with Sheriff Mecum on the 29th at the sheriff's request.

According to [REDACTED] Mr. Calabro and his family have temporarily moved in with friends in New Jersey. We do not know his current address or telephone number. Also, [REDACTED] alleges that Mr. Calabro sexually molested his [REDACTED] also.

Mr. Calabro is registered in four capacities in our council: Scoutmaster, Troop 208, Explorer Advisor, Post 213, Committee Member, Pack 208, and Committee Member, Pact 220. All of these units were due to recharter in January 1988, and Mr. Calabro will not be on the charters if and when they recharter.

It should be noted that Explorer Post 213 is sponsored by the Hall County Sheriff's Department, and the Institutional Head is Sheriff Dick Mecum. Mr. Calabro is employed by the Hall County Fire Department.

[REDACTED] came by our Gainesville Service Center to visit with Rick Aiken on the morning of March 1st. Rick was not in at the time. [REDACTED] told our center manager that others have encouraged him to sue the Boy Scouts of America, but he does not wish to do so.

I spoke with Rick on the afternoon of March 1st and we agreed he would visit with the [REDACTED] and explain that Mr. Calabro will be removed from all volunteer positions in our council and put in the confidential file thus banning him from registering anywhere else in the country. Rick is to express our concerns and offer our help whenever possible.

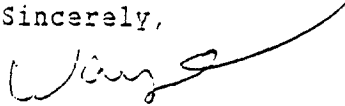

A UNITED WAY AGENCY

No letter has been prepared to deliver to Mr. Calabro since he cannot be located. Sheriff Mecum did tell Rick that he plans to arrest Mr. Calabro when he returns to Gainesville.

I have notified our Council President, George Vest, the Regional Personnel Director, Jim Johnson, and our Attorney, Upshaw Bentley. I will keep you apprised of any happenings as they occur. We will forward the confidential file form as soon as we are able to gather the information requested.
