Dear Paul,

I am enclosing a confidential record sheet on Oliver D. Eames. Also a copy of a newspaper article about just a small part of Mr. Eames' activities.

Two weeks ago I spent half a day meeting with the police and sheriff's department, receiving information about Mr. Eames. They have documented 52 child sexual abuse incidents which he has been involved in. As you will note from the news article, he was charged on only 2 counts. Mr. Eames was sentenced yesterday to 5 years to life with all but one year suspended and a $500.00 fine on each of the two counts. He began his one year prison sentence this morning at 9:00 a.m.

It is my recommendation that we place this individual on our confidential file and prohibit his further involvement in Scouting. Thank you for your assistance.

Sincerely,

K. Hart Bullock
Scout Executive

Ex-teacher admits sex abuse attempts

FARMINGTON — A former Davis County elementary school teacher has pleaded guilty in 2nd District Court to two counts of attempted aggravated sexual abuse of a child and faces possible consecutive prison terms of five years to life on each.

Oliver D. Eames, 39, [REDACTED] Farmington, pleaded guilty to the two charges, both reduced from aggravated sexual abuse of a child, in a plea negotiation with the Davis County attorney's office.

Eames was a long-time teacher at Farmington Elementary School and private tutor. He resigned from teaching in January after an investigation into the charges began.

He is charged with repeatedly fondling young male students while tutoring them in January. Davis County Attorney Mel Wilson told Judge Rodney S. Page during Eames's arraignment.

Aggravated sexual abuse and attempted aggravated sexual abuse are both first-degree felonies, carrying prison terms of five years to life and a fine of up to $10,000.

But by pleading guilty to attempted aggravated sexual abuse of a child, Eames does not face the minimum mandatory prison sentence of 3, 6 or 9 years that the aggravated sexual abuse charge carries.

Page accepted Eames's plea to the reduced charge and set sentencing for May 3.
